

Developing individual excellence through rigorous academics, innovative technology and personal attention

End of the Year Reflections

Although the fall season, with crisp weather and distinct colors is my favorite time of the year, I very much enjoy the spring season as well. I began my career teaching high school science at Manchester. Each spring we used a small greenhouse to raise plants and conduct experiments as a relevant way to illustrate the concept of life cycle. As you are well aware, spring signifies an opportunity for growth, especially for those whose livelihood depends on the production of plants or crops.

This idea is somewhat contrary to what we envision with education. For many, spring signifies the conclusion of yet another school year, the final chapter for educators and students alike. Throughout my career whether I was at Manchester, Onsted, the LISD, or Madison, spring signified the end to yet another year, but also provided me an opportunity to grow, the chance to improve, to plan and prepare to make the next school even better than the last. I believe one of the best ways in which to grow is to reflect. Looking back on each year coming to a close provides a chance to learn from what went well and what may need to be addressed or improved. At this time I reflect on the numerous accomplishments that occurred this year at Madison and give thanks to the individuals who put forth substantial effort to accomplish remarkable results.

I do my best to thank those who contributed in so many ways to provide opportunities to our students. These individuals include teachers, staff members, parent volunteers, grandparents, community leaders, and senior citizens, to name a few. Individuals each day share their talents with the District so students have the greatest opportunity to succeed. However, students do not succeed on their own. They rely heavily on support and encouragement as they strive to be the best they can be. As a father, I am well aware of the successes and challenges parents face as they do their best to support their children. I sincerely thank the parents, grandparents, guardians, and community members who have contributed as a positive role model for children throughout this school year. I want you to know that your contribution is recognized and very much appreciated.

Have a wonderful summer,
Ryan Rowe, Superintendent

BSY Recognized in Statewide Publication

Madison Elementary Balanced School Year Program was featured in the spring issue of the MASA Leader magazine. The publication featured the stories of districts who are “Leading Change in a Time of Change” and setting the standard for the future of education in Michigan schools. The article, entitled “Balanced School Year Shows Early Gains for Madison Elementary School,” can be read online at: www.apogeepublications.com/emags/MASA_spring2015.

The MASA Leader is produced by the Michigan Association of School Administrators and is published and distributed to school leaders three times per school year.

Madison High School Receives Bronze Medal Ranking

For the third year in a row, Madison High School is recognized as one of the leading public high schools in the state and in the country, earning U.S. News & World Report's National Ranking of a Bronze Medal for 2015. Madison High School also earned a Bronze Medal ranking in 2014 and a Silver Medal ranking in 2013.

“The U.S. News & World Report’s continued recognition is a testament to our students’ and staff members’ commitment to academic excellence. We are pleased to once again receive this honor.” – Ryan Rowe, Superintendent

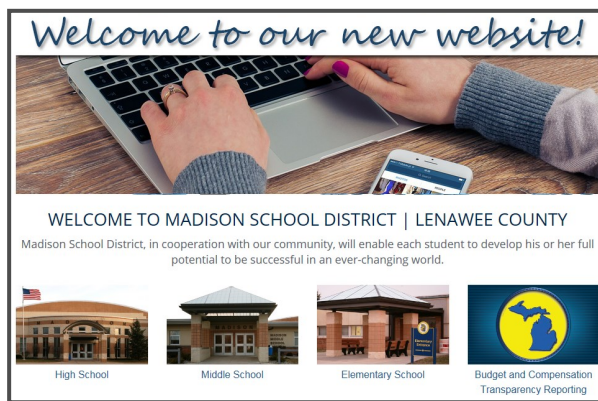

The rankings were determined by information gathered by U.S. News & World Report and American Institutes for Research and are based on student performance on college-readiness, proficiency test scores and the performance of the district’s least-advantaged students in comparison to the state average. Madison’s reading and math proficiency scores continue to remain near the state averages. Michigan has 608 school districts, 10 schools of which were named Gold Medal winners, 68 were recognized as Silver Medal winners and 167 earned bronze medals in 2015.

New Website Coming Soon!

You asked for it—and it’s on its way! A redesigned Madison School District webpage will launch on Tuesday, June 16. Input gathered at the fall School Board and Stakeholder Workshop indicated a need for a fresh web presence with a cleaner layout and improved calendar function. The new design also allows for better access via mobile devices. The site will still have contacts, announcements, events, photos, and other helpful information for families and will remain at www.madisonk12.us.

We thank you for your patience as the site is developed. If there is information you cannot find, or is missing, please let us know. Email Rebecca.Schwan@madisonk12.us.

District Newsletter to be Published Monthly

Beginning this summer, the Madison School District Newsletter will become a monthly publication. The newsletter will be posted to the website and sent via email on the first of each month. The monthly publication schedule will eliminate the need for a separate elementary newsletter. The final issue of Trojan Talk will be sent in early June.

The deadline for submission is the 22nd of the month prior. If do not receive the newsletter via email, and would like to subscribe, or if your email address is changing, please contact Rebecca.Schwan@madisonk12.us.

Seeking Orchestra Musicians

Students who will be enrolled in 6th or 7th grades in the fall of 2015 are invited to be a part of the string orchestra program at Madison for the 2015-16 school year.

Why Join the Orchestra?

- Performing is a great learning experience and a way to share music with the community
- It is a wonderful outlet for young students to express his or her artistic ability
- Raise self-confidence, no one sits on the bench
- Make new friends
- Helps build the appreciation of music
- Improved concentration, coordination, self-discipline
- Research suggests a correlation between instrumental music studies and higher standardized test scores.

Who Can Join?

Students who have the desire to learn how to make music are eligible to be members of the orchestra. No prior musical training is required. The students will start from the very beginning learning how to hold the instrument and reading music. Please email Marcie.Zeckner@madisonk12.us to register or to have any questions answered.

Hear Us Play!

The elementary, middle, and high school orchestras will present their spring concert on Tuesday, June 2 at 7:00 p.m. in the Performing Arts Center. The event is free and open to the public. This is a great way to introduce your student to instrumental music.

About the Madison Middle School Journalism Club

By: Rachel Cheng

Journalism Club is a wonderful activity that teaches better writing skills. This club is held every Tuesdays in Mrs. Harsh's room. In room 22, a few students write articles for our very own Madison Madness. The captain of this club is Jasmine Jones, and the vice-captain of the Journalism Club is Rachel Cheng. If you have any questions about our club, contact the leaders or Mrs. Harsh herself.

Read more from the Madison Middle School Journalism Club by visiting the Madison Madness blog at:

Role Model of the Month

By: McKenna Young

This month's High School Role Model is Sarah Hamilton. Sarah is in the tenth grade and is 15 years old. Sarah is involved with Marching Band, Performing Arts Club, Bowling, Drama, and Interact. While she does bowl, football is easily her favorite sport.

Sarah looks up to J.K Rowling because she gives a lot of her money to charity and it's really nice of her to do concerning the fact that a lot of billionaires don't. She lives by the quote that "If more of us valued food and cheer and song above hoarded gold, it would be a merrier world." -Thorin Oakenshield.

Sarah wanted to tell the "yikes" of moving up into high school. You shouldn't stress because it's not a huge difference, it may be different but not too different that you need to worry so much and you'll get used to it. When she gets older she wants to pursue a career as a computer information technician. And lastly, if she was president for a day she would just sit in the Oval Office all day and remember she has some influence in the world.

Teacher Spotlight: Meet Mrs. Harsh

By: Jasmine Jones

Mrs. Harsh is a teacher at Madison Middle School. She teaches mostly sixth graders and some seventh graders. The subjects that she teaches are Language Arts and Math. Mrs. Harsh went to college at Western Michigan and Siena Heights. Before she taught at Madison, Mrs. Harsh use to work at Onsted schools and Waldron schools. One reason why she became a teacher is to share the love of reading. Mrs. Harsh loves to read! What irritates her is when students to take work seriously or don't put effort in anything! TRY! Mrs. Harsh was been teaching for ten years!

One fact about Mrs. Harsh is that she wanted to be a vet but sadly she's super bad at science. Mrs. Harsh is also married and is a mother of two little girls named Lilly and Amelia. Her hobbies are reading, riding bikes and singing in her church choir. She's the lead singer! She grew up on a farm, used to race BMX bikes and went to college to be a T.V. director. She thinks Peeps are okay; her favorites are the yellow and the white kinds.

Biomedical Sciences Students Visit Bixby ProMedica Hospital

Students from the Madison High School Project Lead the Way Biomedical Sciences-Human Body Systems class teamed up with David Copciac, Bradley Periat, members from ProMedica Air flight crew, and other nurses from ProMedica Bixby Hospital for an outreach field trip experience. The day began with a brief tour of the emergency department which then progressed into a simulation of a STEMI patient in real-time. Students also visited the helicopter to observe the protocol from the flight crew on how a patient is transported to an off-site hospital that has an advanced Cath Lab.

Organizers are confident that this unique experience sparked an interest in biomedical science and hope that students might consider a career in the field of emergency medicine in the future. The Madison biomedical sciences program, instructed by Katie McGormley, is working to establish a collaborative relationship with hospitals and other medical-related businesses in Lenawee County.

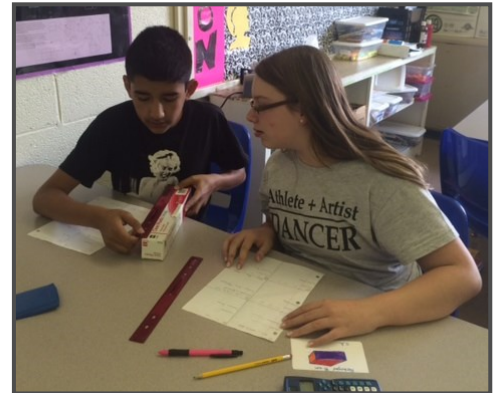

Long-Distance Learning

The Middle School Book Club recently finished The Fifth Wave by Rick Yancey. Approximately 30 students from Madison and a school in California read the book together and held weekly discussions at lunch through Edmodo. As a culminating event, a Skype meeting session was held so students could talk face to face about their impressions of the book.

Collaborative Learning Activities

Mrs. Cebulski's 6th grade Math students completed a hands-on cooperative learning activity where the task was to find the volumes and surface areas of rectangular prisms. The students measured all needed quantities of boxes like Frosted Cheerios and popcorn themselves and found these calculations using those measurements. Students also discussed, using their calculations as justification, which box would hold the most sand and which box would take the least amount of wrapping paper to wrap it.

Kenny Cable

The Madison Family Supports Kenny Cable

Madison 8th grade student, Kenny Cable, was all smiles as he coached a team of 8th graders in a game against staff members on Wednesday, April 22. Kenny was recently diagnosed with cancer and the basketball game is just one of many fundraisers that have been held to assist with his medical expenses. Students have shown their support by wearing purple, purchasing bracelets, and even shaving their heads.

Kenny's family says, "The Madison Family has been nothing but supportive and understanding to my son and the rest of our family. We are absolutely proud to say we are a part of the Madison Family."
